Narrator: Oh! Humans, this time! I wonder what they've got to say for themselves!

WWF: I'm here as a member of the Worldwide Fund for Nature. I'm big on wildlife conservation!

FoE: I'm here as a member of Friends of the Earth. I'm big on looking after our environment!

NPCA: I'm here as a member of the National Parks Conservation Association. I'm big on looking after our great national parks.

RA: I'm here as a member of the Rainforest Alliance. I'm big on saving our trees!

Child: And what about all the other organisations?

Adult: Whose going to look after the birds?

Child: And the bats?

Adult: And the giant squids?

Narrator: Hold it! Hold it! Order! Order! Anyone would think they thought the world was worth saving!

All: (Standing and shouting in unison). We do!

Narrator: OK. So I'm not going to argue with you lot! But what can us humans do to save the planet? We've heard all about how we're wrecking it! Surely it's too late!

Child: So! You're just going to sit back and do nothing? What about future generations?

Adult: He's got a point. We all now know what's going on. Shouldn't we do something about it now?

Narrator: Like what?

FoE: Well, we're really good at putting pressure on governments to change their ways.

Child: So should I just leave it to you guys? Nobody is going to listen to me!
