Of straw and manure.

READER 5: Then he said,

PIG 1: "Hey Wolf
Stay away from my door.
This house will keep me safe
Forevermore.

PIG 1: And if it doesn't,
One way or the other,
I can always go and live
With my brother!"

READER 2: I know a Lee-Sung pig

ALL READERS: We know a Lee-Sung pig.

READER 2: You could call her little,
She isn't very big.

READER 3: She built a tall house
Of mud and sticks.

READER 4: Paid three yuan
For the twiggy-mud mix.

READER 5: Then she said,

PIG 2: "Hey Wolf
Stay away from my door.
This house will keep me safe
Forevermore.

PIG 2: And if it doesn't,
One way or the other,
I can always go and live
With my brother!"

READER 3: I know a Lee-Sung pig

ALL READERS: We know a Lee-Sung pig.

READER 3: You could call him little

He isn't very big.

READER 4: He built a wide house
Of mortar and bricks.

READER 5: Cost five Taiwan dollars
Or maybe even six.

Then he said,

PIG 3: "Hey Wolf
Stay away from my door.
This house will keep me safe
Forevermore.

PIG 3: And if it doesn't,
One way or the other,
I guess I'll go and live
With my mother!"

READER 1: Then the wolf, big and bad,
Appeared on the scene.
He wasn't very friendly.
In fact, he was mean.

READER 2: He huffed and he puffed
From town to town.
'Till he huffered and he puffered
Everything down.
